TO WHOMEVER IT MAY CONCERN

Between 1996 and the end of 1998, Dan Coopriider has been working for the GSM Business Unit of Lucent Technologies in various project management roles. In each role he has shown professionalism and always had special consideration for the users of the tools and processes he created. That attitude specifically made his work very valuable in the competitive market we operate in.

I recommend the services of Dan Coopriider to anyone who has an objective of improving the professionalism in the way they go about applying project management.

Sincerely,

René van der Hulst
